Re: DC Coaters

Dear Madame or Sir:

Keats Manufacturing Co. is a supplier of custom, precision metal stampings, wire forms, and assemblies to the automotive industry and others alike. Our customers are very demanding and require the components we produce to be of the highest quality, at the fairest price, and delivered on time. The majority of the parts we produce require some kind of secondary processing, like heat treating or plating, and as a result it is imperative that our supply base meet not only Keats' standards, but those of our customers as well.

DC Coaters has been a supplier to Keats since 2003, when we were awarded a rather lucrative project from our largest automotive customer, Delphi. Dennis Cook and the staff at DC Coaters were invaluable in their participation of the project's inception and ramp up, and to date they have processed over 18,000,000 parts on our behalf, and have offered the value-added services of packing and drop shipping the product direct to our customer.

While we know that all good things do end, as the manufacture of this component someday will, DC Coaters will continue to be a vendor to Keats for years to come. They truly are "much more than an e-coater"...they are a trusted partner and an important part of our ultimate success.

Sincerely,

Dave King
